

1. How do you usually like to get updates or news about protest topics? Are there specific channels or formats you prefer?

Only on Instagram, but I prefer to have an app or websites to find protests instead of looking for them on Instagram or Facebook.

1.2. Did you research about the organizers before taking part in a protest? Why?

If I am suspicious, yes. Sometimes I have done that.

1.3. Are you following any organizations behind the protests? Yes or no, and why? How would you like to know them?

No, I don't. As I am not in line with most of their desires I wouldn't follow the particular party. But if I feel that I am in line with their ideas then will follow.

(If it is about becoming familiar) Searching their website or googling their names

2. Can you share which topics or causes have motivated you to participate in protests in the past?

when it is tyranny involved (human rights animal rights), feeling more close to self not so much for protests cues it is more of act of shouting and it is tribal rather than a part of a place for dialoging discussion.

2.2. Why do you find attending political protests important?

I think that in today's world people have lost their power with strong regimes and government and strong control over people so one of the areas/ platforms that people still can show their attendance and their power is protest. Whether these protests have an actual result is another matter

2.1. Was there a topic people protested for that affected your daily life? (New question!?) *

For me protest had not any effect on my daily life. However, it was all kinds of information (Videos) about veganism through media that changed my life.

3. Can you describe any negative experiences that you had in protest?

Timetable tracking (events beginning and ending),

Location tracking are we going to stay here or not,

At least shows it on a poster for everyone,

Good quality speakers are needed,

Spy (video recording of peoples face),

People are not cooperative and sometime protests seems like more fun to them rather than a protest,

Show it more visual like motion,

See the information.

3.1. How do you prioritize safety during protest? What measures do you rely on to feel secure?

It depends on the protest. For example in (Iran) you need to use mask or glasses or covering your face with a scarf to hide your identity. With keeping a distance to the core of the protest, avoiding any kinds of camera surveillance, reaching to a police officer asking for a help.

3.2. Did you feel safe during the last protest?

No I didn't. And I didn't wear any mask and it depends in a regimes and governments that makes you feel this way. Because I didn't know who is the real person or who is the spy and who is going to make a video of peoples face.

3.3. During the last protest you were participating were you feeling crowded?

Sometimes yes and sometimes it was very normal

4. Are you going to protests with a group of people or alone? (New question!?)

I prefer to go there with my close friends. Otherwise I am not going to take risk to find someone to go along with him/her.

4.1. How do you prefer to connect with unfamiliar individuals during protest?

Something like massaging and requesting and accepting. Yes, I would like to. From the safety aspect, the Security measures can be implemented by my profile I can hide my information and my name. Attention for safety measures that if you are attending to a protest against a dictator government to change your name and profile pictures.
